

Encore Productions Residency Round Up – November 2020

Always ready to turn a challenge to our advantage, the cast and crew at Encore Productions have been putting strict social distancing and mask wearing to dramatic use as we explore the origins of Greek theatre.

Last year we were fortunate to benefit from workshops with visiting professional theatre companies to help build up our skill base. With theatre groups currently not touring we have found an online solution in the form of video workshops from the National Theatre in London.

We have been learning how Greek actors used mask and movement to bring their characters to life and have been following video workshops in the development of choreography in Greek Chorus. It's been very new, and very old, all at the same time!

Encore Productions

November 2020

Along side this we have almost completed the voice recording of our radio drama of 'Our Town' for which we hope to have post production complete before christmas.

Stay tuned!!